

MIB needed guidance bringing disparate Information Security programs into an Enterprise Information Security Program. A web search identified CISO Consulting Inc. as offering Information Security Services that would meet our enterprise security needs.

We initially contracted Keith Crumpton, principal at CISO Consulting, for a period of ten (10) weeks. During that initial time, Keith interviewed most of our technical and business staff, joined a number of IT committees, and reviewed existing Information Technology Policies, Standards, and Procedures to help prioritize our efforts in developing an enterprise-wide security program.

The ten weeks turned into fourteen months. During this time period, we developed the foundations of our Enterprise Security Program, we hired an Enterprise Security Director (Keith helped us with the interviewing process), and we began the process of obtaining our very first AICPA SOC 2 Type 2 report.

Keith Crumpton has been a key Associate in our organization. He identified our strengths and helped us build on our opportunities for improvement while maintaining a professional relationship with our entire staff. He has mentored individuals, groomed them to take over projects he started (Business Continuity Planning being the most notable), and assisted others with projects in their departments (Purchasing of IT products and services).

We would bring Keith back to assist us if the need arises. He is an asset to any organization. It is with great pleasure and conviction that I write this recommendation for him.

Sincerely,
